

Beach bodies are built in winter

Winter is here! By now you should have no doubt about it.

The highland areas and central SA have had a few weeks of bitter cold and the Western Cape finally has received its first real cold and rainy weather. Add to that our dear 'Uncle Cyril'...

Our business coaches are making headlines!

The cover star of June's Get It Bloemfontein magazine was none other than proud Free Stater and ActionCOACH Business Coach, Thabo Pitse. In his article with the magazine, he shares that becoming an ActionCOACH Business Coach has been a "career highlight".

Thabo's business coaching journey has been unusual, compared to our other coaches, because the global pandemic hit during his ActionCOACH training in the United States.

We couldn't be more chuffed for Thabo and we look forward to seeing him on billboards next!

Coach Interview

Since 2007 we've been fortunate to attract the most amazing people to this business that have both the passion for business and the deep willingness to make a difference in people's lives.

In this video AcitonCOACH Southern Africa Country Partner, Harry Welby-Cooke, interviews Bloemfontein based Business Coach Marie-Louise Smith. Marie-Louise comes from a corporate background in media

Originally started coaching with Darryn de Grange because he saw it as a "quick fix" for the business, but he has come to realise that business coaching is a journey.

Understanding the Entrepreneurial Ladder

Several people have the desire to become an entrepreneur because they view it as a pathway to wealth building. In my locality, Nigeria, we recognise that entrepreneurs are people such as Aliko Dangote of Dangote Group, Oba Otudeko of Honeywell Group, and Abdulsamad Rabiu of BUA Group. All these well-known entrepreneurs started out as small trading businesses and grew into conglomerates operating across various sectors, and are listed on the Stock Exchange.
